Nineteen Forty One

THE

Friends from the start
the spotlight's on you

1941 ECHO

Dedicated to Friendship

HELLO THERE!

Yes, this year's annual is dedicated to you! When you open this book and begin to scan the pages, our work, as a staff, will be finished. We have tried to make a scrapbook for you and we've filled it with the things which we thought that you would like to keep. We've done our best to hold a mirror before you and to give you a true representation of a year at G. C. If you're satisfied with the result, we're happy and could wish for no better pay.

So you're wondering what the two black figures are doing on the opposite page? Well, let's clear up that situation. Think, could you have better symbolized companionship between school friends? Many years from now you will have forgotten, probably, who those people are—but we hope that they will always serve to remind you of the days you've shared with true friends at Greensboro College.

Mere words won't express, exactly, what you gain from being here, but you know what it is. We all have it and it's something we don't ever lose.

Without added words—here's a dedication of love, loyalty, and friendship to You, from,

YOUR '41 ECHO STAFF

. . . . and YOU

Campus Potpourri

"OLLIE" á la Jeter . . . and at the book store we gather to feast, fun, and fab . . . wonder what the mail man brought? . . . Now, get set, let's go . . . our Santa came early, but look at the surprise he brought . . . your major—when as and if . . . and here we escape the F.B.I. by adhering to college regulations . . . far from the black-out zones, but it's almost.

A four-course dinner with all the trimmings . . . Rest comes after a day's work in the Practice House . . . It's such masters of the brush as these that make the flats for scenes such as . . . this one from "The Royal Family" that shows the entire cast . . . Here are a couple of glimpses from the society halls . . . there's Sloc under the green and gold . . . and Irving members rushing for the purple.

STUDENTS

ANNE MAE EXUM
President

Certainly "G. C." has student government with a group of girls elected by us to lead us. Anne Mae Exum, our efficient President, must have been related in some way to President Lincoln, in her "by the (students), for the (students), and of the (students)" idea, because she really has given the whole student body a share in all decisions.

The Students' Association has "Ta" Temple to record our doings and Dot Smith to do our corresponding, Martha Cline to count and keep our filthy lucre, "Willie" Pegram and Sadie Wolfe who rate numbers one and two, in the line of Vice-Presidents, to assist the President and Jean Davis to pass the word for the town girls.

ASSOCIATION

The students meet once a month to discuss plans, improvements, and to organize different groups on the campus as we need them. For instance, we now have a committee for lost and found articles, and to take the place of the flashing of lights we have groups of charming young lassies (a bunch of snakes in reality) to remind us that ten-twenty, the zero hour, has arrived. Where the officers of Students' Association meet as a council on Monday nights (those nightmares!) they not only discuss the cases of naughty little girls, but they also talk about ways in which we can improve the student government which we now have. In reality, though, we all think it's plenty good, and the council deserves a toast, or would it be better to say "three cheers," for their earnest endeavors and their interests for us.

HONOR SOCIETY

G. C.'s beauty and brains are found in the Honor Society . . . and I do mean brains . . . For instance, all those who get the much coveted "voluntary cuts" are the members . . . About once or twice a year the brilliant ones have a formal meeting . . . That's when we "dumb ones" wonder why we just weren't smart . . . Really, we are that bright (we think), but the effort is too much for the glory . . . So all of us take our hats off to those girls who have won the honor that takes "gray matter," hard work, and those wonderful grades.

The officers of the Honor Society are: President, Mary Noble Angel; Vice-President, Anna Leo Nelson; Secretary, Celeste Horne.

JUNIOR HONOR SOCIETY

Little sister to the Honor Society is the Junior Honor Society . . . This organization is made up of those who had foresight when they were "wild" freshmen, and settled down once in awhile to study . . . Though we don't realize it, making good grades in college forms a background for our future life . . . Wondering pride swells in us for those who studied on some afternoons instead of going to the movies, and some of those nights instead of dating "the one" . . . Objectives and requirements of the Junior Honor Society are the same as those of the big Honor Society. Leader, as President of the Junior Honor Society, is Bettie Prosser, and her helpers are Frances Hallum Vice-President, and Mary Elizabeth Temple, Secretary.

Y. W. C. A.

"CAM." The President

Freshman party . . . Wednesday night confab . . . can anybody beat Janella's posters? . . . Christmas party for the underprivileged . . . "The Gleam" . . . Sunday vespers . . . let's all go to Junaluska . . . Young Peoples' conferences . . . installation service . . . open house . . . Religious Emphasis Week . . . new song sheets . . . still strong for the hut . . . hats off to Lorene and Kitty . . . scriptures in students' meetings . . . keep up the good work. Sara . . . students saying grace in the dining room . . . Frankie, Edith, and Alice doing a swell job . . . Thanksgiving boxes for the needy . . . Majelle really works . . . minutes correct, Velda? . . . congratulations, Cam, you're doing a wonderful job . . . dependable Minnie Mae . . . week at Blue Ridge!

Y. W. C. A.

What could be more appropriate for a "Y" picture than a fireside scene? It reminds us all of the chats we've had, of vespers in a solemn, peaceful atmosphere, and of all the good times that everyone has enjoyed as members of the Y. W. C. A. We could think from now until the end of this book, and still wouldn't remember all the activities of the "Y" this year. But who can forget the Christmas party, when we all tried our best to be Santa's helpers? . . . Then there's Religious Emphasis

Week that brought Mrs. Grace Sloan Overton to our campus with a great deal of information and inspiration that we won't soon forget . . . But we can't stop yet . . . there are the Thanksgiving baskets . . . the various conferences that many G. C. delegates attended . . . and on . . . and on . . . What more proof do you need of the fact that our "Y" is a wide-awake organization that makes our campus life even more enjoyable than it already is?

EMERSON SOCIETY

"Old Emerson we are proud that we belong to you!" . . . really hits the nail on the head when it comes to the way each member feels about the Emerson Literary Society. One can easily understand why the Emersons love the society one sees the fine spirit of loyalty and friendship among the members.

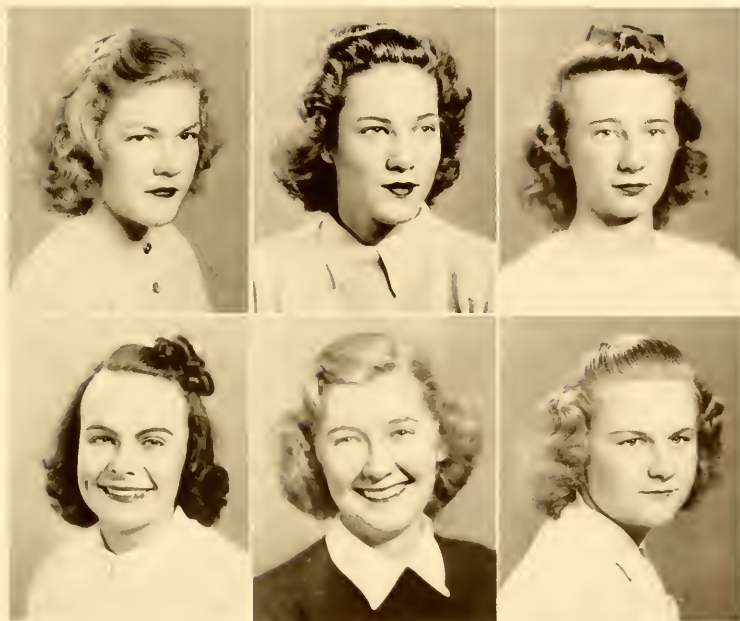

Ruth Slocumb worked during the summer to make preparations for "rush week." Each member wrote to several new girls and extended to them a friendly welcome in the name of the society. During the first week in the year there were many feasts, etc., for the neophytes.

E Λ Σ

The program for the formal meeting was under the supervision of Jo Pepper and it consisted of an original dramatization of what the members thought a faculty would be like.

The highlight of the rush week came when the Emersons decorated the gym as a barn. To lend atmosphere to the occasion, two calves, two chickens, were brought in. Three ducks, Em, Er and Son, were to be found swimming on the lake. When the new girls came to the place of fun, they were given tiny rakes, hoes, and shovels for favors. Sloc, dressed as a country lass, distributed apples, punch, and buns among the visitors. Following Decision Day the old girls gave a picnic for their pledges at Cone Lake. During the outing the girls swam, danced, and skirted the lake in boats. The climax of the afternoon came when they held an election to select their queen and Jane Moore was that lucky lady.

Yes, on the whole we think the Emersons are a pretty swell bunch. Something tells us that the girls will be "fighting for their colors and fighting til they have won, fighting for the glory of OLD EMERSON!"

THE IRVING SOCIETY

The Irvings are a jolly bunch and they know how to do things that really count for something. Just look at the swell job they did in putting over the rush week ceremonies, this year. Immediately after Frankie got married, this summer, Kat Thompson stepped in and took over with a more than capable hand. She organized her fellow members and they started to write all those new girls that were coming to G. C. and tell them just how fine this old school really is and before we knew it, they had the new girls looking forward to leaving their homes and joining their classmates here.

At last school opened and the new girls were rushed off their feet by the Irvings. While the Emersons were having their barnyard party for the neophytes the Irvings were giving a party in the "Y" hut for their pledges. The decorations carried out the idea of a milk bar, with Elsie Borden as the outstanding guest. Yessirree she was there to greet the new comers and maybe she had something to do with the winning of the most new members.

After the freshmen had made their choice of societies, the Irvings went to Guilford Battlegrounds for a picnic supper and an all-round good time. That was a lot of fun and we really enjoyed it. At an election there, they chose Peggy Purnell to be the Irving Bride and at a not far-off date, they had a fake wedding ceremony and married her to the president of the society.

All of the things above went to make up a year of good fun and fellowship. No matter how long a person is away from Greensboro College she always holds fond memories of the society which made her know that she had a definite place in its being and that she counted a lot.

OF NINETEEN FORTY-ONE

Have you written your copy for the German Club? How about those ads . . . are they adding up to any money? Have you seen those last pictures . . . good, aren't they? Ho, hum . . . feels like the last day of summer, and some sleep would be luscious. As a result of such conversations and a lot of hard work, the ECHO staff presents your book to you . . . and just to play a game of table-turning, here they all are . . . without their pencils, pads, and worried looks, to be sure . . . sorta nice, don't you think? They're at their best now, but they should be, since the annual is ready for you . . . Certainly you couldn't help noticing the work they have done . . . but don't forget, either, to give them all the credit they deserve.

THE HANDBOOK

"Wise-cracking," smiling Carolyn Smith took the lead as editor of the Handbook this year. As business manager Grace Osborne Clayton was pretty busy chasing around getting ads, too. The Handbook, essential for the orientation of new students and necessary for the upperclassmen, was extra special this year.

Our hats are off to Carolyn and "Gracie" for their good work!

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

Again this year quiet Renee and witty Roberta are back on the campus to help the International Relations Club achieve its purpose. Working hand in hand with the Y. W. C. A., the I. R. C. is attempting to achieve a common footing with people of other countries so that the nations may be united in a world-union. The I. R. C. has promoted several study meetings, chapel programs, and intercollegiate conferences.

The officers of the club are: Carolyn Smith, President; Katherine Thompson, Vice-President; Elizabeth Cole, Secretary; Rebecca Powell, Treasurer.

THE GLEE CLUB

In spite of the many appellations given the Glee Club, among which are "Angelic Beings" (Mr. Vassar's version), and "The Greensboro College Football Team" (Dr. Gobbel's discovery), the most characteristic description is that of a fun-loving, hard-working, loyal organization. It has been through many representations, both local and foreign of its Alma Mater, that the club has won for itself a very vital and important place in the total program of Greensboro College.

No mention of the Glee Club can be made without the memories of the nine-day tour (through North Carolina, Virginia, and District of Columbia) intervening. Incidents such as the overlooking of a concert for the sake of a few curls, the obtaining of two boxes of Whitman's candy, and the everlasting delinquency of a few members . . . that of not getting to their destinations—wherever they were—on time, kept everyone in a mirthful mood and helped to make the trip a very happy and successful one.

QUINTET

The doors of Odell suddenly open and out rush five girls with violins and a cello tucked under their arms. Maybe they are on their way to play for a fashion show at Montaldo's, or perhaps they are hurrying to the high school to take charge of the chapel program . . . whatever their destination, they represent a unique phase of the Music School of Greensboro College. They have made their programs interesting with the talented renditions of our favorite numbers: "Blue Danube," Strauss; "Andante Cantabile," Tchaikowsky; "Salut d'Amour," Elgar; and medley of Stephen Foster's songs.

THE ORCHESTRA

Such exclamations as you're flat! you're sharp! Watch me! Late again! That's almost right, but not quite! may be heard issuing forth from the lower regions of Odell every Thursday night of the school year. As funny and as meaningless as these expressions sound, they constitute a portion of the ingredients that are poured into the Greensboro College orchestra to produce the artistic performances that are characteristic of that organization.

The long hours of concentrated work culminated in the outstanding concert presented Sunday afternoon, February 23. The special features . . . Mozart's "Overture Così Fan Tutte," and "Concerto in G" played by Austin Scott, flutist; and Frack's "Variations Symphoniques" played by Celeste Horne, pianist, added interest and beauty to the program. The concert was concluded with Beethoven's famous Fifth Symphony.

THE ART CLUB

The theme of the 1940-41 Art Club could be called "art in Living." It has fostered an interest in every art phase from the latest trend in block printing to what milady is wearing.

Painting, architecture, sculpture, styles of furniture: these objectives have been obtained through helpful talks by prominent men and women, as well as members of our own faculty.

Because of its sincere desire to include anyone who has a genuine interest in art, the club has increased its membership to one hundred girls.

The officers were: president, Anna Leo Nelson; vice-president, Alice Crump Martin; secretary-treasurer, Janella Kirk; publicity, chairman, Elizabeth Curry; with Mary-Braeme Seasholtz as faculty sponsor.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

If you haven't seen how the Home Ec. girls have fixed up the Home Ec. Reading room, you've really missed something. It's really a good looking place this year,—thanks to the good work of this club under the leadership of Beryl Graham. The Reading room has been made into one that can not only be used as a Home Ec. student's library, but also as a swell place for the club's informal meetings, there the students of all classes from the Frosh to dignified Seniors gather and discuss the best colors for the coming season, or anything that is of interest. Sometimes a meeting consists of fashion shows of dresses made, and even designed, by members of the sewing class.

The officers of the club this year are: Beryl Graham, President; Anne Miller, Vice-President; Helen Finney, Secretary; Jean Brotemarkle, Treasurer; Sadie Wolfe, Reporter; Peggy Brown, Scrapbook keeper.

SOCIAL STANDARDS COMMITTEE

As usual, the Social Standards Committee has been busy this year getting nickels and dimes for things beneficial to all of us, one of them being the radio which is to go in one of our parlors. The members have been busy, too, carrying out certain themes, such as the "Better Manners" week and "Honor Week."

There are eleven members of Social Standards Committee: Marion Grey Mitchell, Mary Hester Austin, Catherine Gibbs, Frances Kelly, Nell Durham, Ruth Bunts, Carolyn Stansel, Jean Edgerton, Jane Giersch, with Octavia Temple as chairman.

G. C. DAUGHTERS

Those girls who can get down old-time G. C. annuals and show us with pride the pictures of their mothers who came to G. C. in 1918 or who can tell us stories of the old rules and customs that their grandmothers went by when they were here . . . even much farther back than 1918 . . . form a group known as the G. C. Daughters. This group is a large one each year . . . and one of which every G. C. girl would be proud to be a member.

P. K. CLUB

"Come on, Peele, let's go to the P. K. club meeting."

Such a call as that is typical of the ones we "G.C.-ers" hear every third Monday night when the Preachers' Kids get together to mix a little business and pleasure. And when all the kids get together, what a time they have, — 'specially during conference time when they're so excited they can scarcely hold a decent meeting.

The meetings are FUN too. They're "conducted" by Bishop Laura Ellen Canipe, District Superintendent Janella Kirk, and Pastor Louise Peele, with other members of the club helping with the programs and looking out for refreshments.

In the picture here, the P. K.'s have finally stopped chatting just long enough to dash on some lipstick, straighten their hair, and . . . "Look at the birdie; now SMILE."

CREATIVE WRITERS CLUB

"Guess what . . . I wrote the cutest poem the other day, but nobody seems to appreciate it . . . someone told me that it sounded like a sad, sad story instead of a happy dedication to my love . . . Now can you beat that? And I had planned to read it at our meeting tomorrow night!" Such is half a conversation which you might hear 'most any time from a member of the Creative Writers Club, the best group in creation . . . well, one of the best, anyway. When they have a brainstorm everyone knows it . . . and when they don't . . . they keep as quiet as possible. Even the president, Skeeter Davis, and the vice-president, Jean Edgerton, agree with the secretary and treasurer, Carolyn Janssen (just had to get in somehow), about creative writing . . . they say it's fun when there's something to create . . . and they really mean it.

WHO'S WHO

No, this isn't Mr. Owl speaking—it's merely someone who likes to talk . . . and this time it's about the most outstanding girls on the G. C. campus . . . meaning of course, Anne Exum, Shirley Bailey, Cameron Taylor, Ruth Slocumb, Anne Worth, Majelle Morris, Willie Pegram, and Rachel Archer. It's a great honor to be chosen for a biography to be included in the volume called Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges . . . but truthfully, it's a small measure of compensation for the splendid work that they have done. These are the girls who are responsible for getting things done in the right way . . . so here's a cheer for every one of them!

FUTURE TEACHERS CLUB

Practice teaching . . . units . . . unprepared lessons . . . units . . . practice teaching . . . Such is the life cycle of most the G. C. seniors as they struggle through the last of the "happiest days of their lives." You can recognize them anywhere if you can get close enough to hear, "I have the cutest little boy in my class, and he's so smart" or "My taxi almost didn't get out to school on time—but somehow I made it." It's for seniors such as these that the Future Teachers Club has been organized, under the direction of Dr. Young it has grown into one of the most active of the college groups. The members have teas, attend conferences, and enter into various other activities that add some variety to everyday occurrences and make their lives anything but "hum drum."

FRENCH CLUB

Parlez-vous français? If you can answer that question in the same language in which it is given, perhaps you possess the qualifications for becoming a member of the club organized for students of French . . . that is if you aren't already a part of that jolly bunch. If you are in the latter group, then you know of the laughs their programs afford, even if they are putting on a tragic play . . . Oh, those good refreshments which are served at every meeting . . . need more be said? We might add, that as one of the most active of the campus organizations, the French Club caters to a special group.

THE MATH CLUB

Now to describe the Math Club. There's no way to tell you that these girls are great scholars and that they understand Einstein's theory . . . They don't profess to—but—they are going to leave G. C. some day and dazzle the world with their own theories on how to teach math. For those who don't go on with this exalted children's game of playing with figures may be found, not balancing equations—but balancing budgets.

TOWN GIRLS' CLUB

Can't find my books . . . someone has moved them from my shelf . . . Eight o'clock class . . . didn't have time to eat my breakfast before I left home . . . how about a ride this noon?

No doubt about it . . . the conversation could come from nowhere but the Day Student's Room, and it's surprising what a rumpus is raised there sometimes. They've been busy this year . . . new furniture, new bookshelves, successful clean-up campaigns, parties for the "little sisters," and most important of all . . . the banquet! Leading the group, this year, are: Margaret Wrenn Koontz, president; Oma Kent, vice-president; Rachel Miles, secretary; Mary Council, treasurer; and Jean Davis, council representative.

RAYMOND A. SMITH RELIGIOUS ED. CLUB

So you think you know what religious education is? Well, let the Religious Ed. club members tell you that there is a whole lot more to it than simply attending Sunday school and church, or reading textbooks. Visits to many churches of Greensboro, blind date parties, sings, and get-togethers, have done much to promote good fellowship; when there is a far-travelled guest or missionary in town, leave it up to the Religious Ed. club to invite him as a speaker for their Tuesday night meetings and then see them sit on the floor (how could there be chairs enough?) and "take it all in." Under the direction of Dr. Smith and president Billie Beam, the organization has become one of the most active on the campus.

THE GERMAN CLUB

Any resemblance to fifth columnists here or abroad is purely coincidental and very much resented by the members of the German Club. They also assure you that they are not a branch of the Dies Committee but that they are just a group of girls who have sufficient courage to struggle with this bewilderingly difficult tongue. It is a treat to watch all those eyes plus and minus "specs" blink and twinkle, trying to decipher the strange German alphabet, or to see those tongues twist and turn when singing German songs. Really, they do a lot of singing, folk dancing, and keeping-up with German customs. With Blitzkrieg speed they were the first to have a large scale Christmas party at the Y Hut with the traditional Christmas tree, the glowing fire around which they stood singing "Stille Nacht, Heilige Nacht."

THE G. C. PLAYERS

It takes a lot to be classed among the G. C. Players. If you're interested let's look further—. You begin with work and add to it until you've earned enough points to be a member—but now that's not all—those already veteran enough to be included in the organization must cast their yeas and nays before you are allowed (imagine it) to be initiated at their annual spring banquet. That's enough for us to tell you . . . they're just downright good people and we couldn't do without their excellent performances.

SPEECH CLUB

Last year you knew this organization as the Dramatics Club . . . but now, as the Elba Henninger Speech Club, it is recognized as one of the most outstanding groups on the campus. Standards have been raised . . . in order to join, no speech student can make any grade lower than B, and each member is responsible for providing entertainment at the meetings. The club was responsible, too, for inviting Mexico's national dramatist, Miss Josephina Niggli, to speak to us . . . and that isn't all . . . they put on a radio program that was absolutely "tops." Officers are Erleene Greene, president; Etta Farrar Taylor, vice-president; and Alice Birkhead, secretary.

There's tennis, riding, soccer..
Oh well, you see for yourself
what we do with.. Athletics

That's our Game!

Whee! we're off for another of those Athletic picnics at Guilford battle grounds. Just look at those beaming faces . . . We skate in the gym, and ping pong isn't a neglected extra-curricula activity . . . monkeys out of their cage? No, no, just a couple of G. C. girls who can't keep their feet on the ground . . . Jeter can serve with good form as well as she can teach us how.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

This year we had a picnic for all the gals old and new, a soccer tournament, a swimming meet, and a horse show, besides entertaining hospitality guests. No wonder the Athletic Association is one of the three major organizations on the campus. The annual banquet for players on all kinds of teams was given on The Jefferson Roof. This has proved to be one of the most "funful" dinners ever held. Leaders in this year's association were: Rachel Archer, president; Eleanor Fitzgerald, vice-president; Dot G. Smith, secretary; Bettie Prosser, treasurer.

MISS "G. C."

Even though Kay has only been on our campus two years she has lost no time in becoming . . . well, Miss G. C. Kay is a "Whiz bang" . . . she plops the basketball in the ole basket 50 feet (almost) away. She can ride, swim, beat you at tennis, and most anything else she wants. Give her a chance and you'll find out. Here's to Miss G. C.!

THE "G" CLUB

The "G" Club, this year was made up of, entirely, Seniors: Rachel Archer, Helen Robbins, Ruth Slocumb, and Flo Warner. Membership in this little club means that a member has gained proficiency in enough sports to make the required 750 points needed to get a "G." (You try it and when you gain all those points we'll congratulate you, too.)

SWIMMING

Big ones, little ones, tall ones, short ones, and middle sized ones make up the squadron of G. C. mermaids. They troop faithfully down to the "Y" every Tuesday and Thursday to learn to improve their strokes. Some are so perfect that they become Senior Life Savers (Red Cross). Of course, there are some high divers, low divers and "flats," ouch those tummies . . . All this goes into the making of the finest swimmers at G. C.

RIDING

Riding is one of the top-ranking favorites at G. C. Flo Wariner was president of "The Bit and Spur" as the riding club was redubbed by its members. The horse show is a gala doing and in preparation for the event note the emergence of the new habits. The members include: Marion G. Mitchell, Ruth Slocumb, Shirley Bailey, Flo Wariner, Virginia Hollowell, Mary Louise Hinkle, Carolyn Backer, Larry Cox and Alice Birkhead.

TENNIS

Hail Hester . . . Queen of the courts . . . Hess is a platinum blonde junior who back-stroked her way to fame on the G. C. tennis courts. With her nimble footwork, forehand drives and good form, it's no wonder Hester served the crown onto her own head.

TENNIS

From the tennis fans who entered the tournament, this year, a team was chosen. There were: Greenie, representing the seniors. Hester from the junior ranks, Libby Temple of the sophomore class, and Hilda Thompson rising from the freshman level. Hester, of course, being the singles champ, needs no further praise. Lib Temple is really an up-and-coming champion as is, also, Hilda. Then, last but not least, as the saying goes . . . there's Greenie with a form all her own. Thanks, too, go to the cheering section!

SOCCKER

Eleven girls charging down a field . . . referee's whistle . . . time out . . .
 after a ball . . . kick off . . . forward frosty air . . . long sweat suits . . . a line . . . half backs . . . full backs . . . goal! . . . not so many seniors . . . loads "girls' football" . . . bruised shins . . . of freshmen . . . tournament ends . . .
 dribbling . . . corner kick . . . goal guard the JUNIORS WON!

Our soccer tournament wasn't such a big success this year, but we did have a lot of fun and participation in the game helped us build up some real school spirit. Next to the senior team above we caught Betty Graham in the act of slipping us behind those juniors in hopes of revising the course of the ball. Chills, spills, and excitement characterize the sport, so . . . go to it next year, girls, and bring out the gallery.

The spice of life.

Robin's men have target practice on the green and . . . those heralds, we know, precede the court to the scene of coronation.

Here you see the Sophomores encircling their Senior "big sisters" with the daisy chain they made for class day exercises. (They picked all those posies, too!)

BEAUTY AS SEEN BY THE MEN ON THE FACULTY

In case you wonder how we chose these pretty girls to appear in this section, here's how we did it! The photographers picked the girls who made good photographic subjects, and we gave Mr. Watson, Mr. Vassar, Dr. Lahser, and Dr. Ginnings the task of eliminating all but these eight.

GREENSBORO COLLEGE

A DISTINCTIVE COLLEGE—Chartered in 1838, the pioneer of higher education for women in North Carolina.

A BEAUTIFUL COLLEGE—Situated on an eminence dotted with tall pines, stately oaks, and sturdy elms, where ivy-clad buildings are modernized and beautiful.

A PROGRESSIVE COLLEGE—Rich in traditions of almost a century, meeting present day needs, and pressing forward toward a second century, of even greater usefulness.

A HOMELIKE COLLEGE—Small enough for forming contacts and close friendships, where good food is well served, and hospitality abounds, where friends are welcome.

A COLLEGE WITH VARIED OPPORTUNITIES—For the study of courses in Art, Home Economics, Speech and Dramatic Art, Religious Education, and Music, in addition to the usual liberal arts subjects, and for practice teaching, qualifying for Class A certificate.
